L.C. Subject Headings Weekly Lists
Subject Cataloging Division--Processing Services
Library of Congress Washington 20540

The subject headings weekly lists are a by-product of the system in the Subject Cataloging Division of the Library of Congress for the submission, review, and approval of new, changed, and cancelled subject headings and references. The approved lists of additions and changes result from decisions made at a weekly meeting. Approximately 50 lists are produced each year.

A handwritten brace is used to group headings that are related, either because they were generated by one book or because it is desirable to consider certain headings together. Therefore, headings do not necessarily appear in alphabetical order. Blank spaces represent subject headings or references that were not approved as proposed.

The code A indicates that the heading was involved in high priority cataloging.

References are placed on the list only in "one direction", which may be either as a see also or an xx, a see or an x, etc.

The data on the approved lists will be added to the MDS--Subject Authorities data base, which will be distributed to those who subscribe. The data will also appear in the quarterly LCSH in microfiche and in the 11th edition of LCSH, which is planned to include data through 1986. The quarterly paper supplements have been discontinued because of the implementation of the online system for input and update of subject authority information.

Corrections made to data on approved lists during the input into the authorities data base do not appear in subsequent lists and may result in discrepancies between the lists and the data base. Generally these changes do not substantially affect headings themselves. Information in the approved lists should be considered authorization to use a specific subject heading in the future.
